

2010 Campus Equality Index: Colleges and Universities with Inclusive Rooming Policies

www.genderblind.org

This document details a total of 54 colleges and universities with gender-neutral rooming options. This list, while comprehensive, is not exhaustive, as it is based on policy statements and media reports.

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
American University	2008	Gender-neutral rooming will be available to residents of a specific Residential Community Cluster. The program community, entitled “Exploring the Intersections of Sexuality, Gender, and Culture,” will house a total of twenty-four students by mutual choice. Source: Media Advisory, “Creation of ‘Exploring the Intersections of Sexuality, Gender and Culture’ Residential Community at American University,” April 2, 2008.
Bennington College	Within the last 10 years	Offers gender-neutral housing to all upper-class students. Students may pair up with a roommate of any gender in a double or triple. Couples of any sexual orientation are permitted to live together. No additional screening or interview process required. Source: Robert Graves, Dean of Students in a telephone interview, Feb. 22, 2006
Bowdoin College	2010	Beginning Fall 2010, sophomores, juniors, and seniors sharing double bedrooms will be allowed to room with whomever they choose, in the “living environment most conducive to their health, safety and development.” The policy change will not apply to first-year students, or one-room triple bedrooms. Source: Bowdoin Orient, Feb. 12, 2010
Brown University	2004, expanded in 2008	Gender-neutral rooming is available for upper-class students through the general housing lottery. Previously only available in upper-class suites and apartments, the gender-neutral policy has been expanded to about a third of all upper-class doubles as part of a pilot program. Source: Brown University Daily Herald, March 20, 2008
California Institute of Technology	N/A	Allows students to choose or be assigned a roommate regardless of gender “if all parties agree to the situation.” Source: CalTech Resident Guide to Institute Housing
Carnegie Mellon University	2007	Students may choose a roommate of a different gender. Students participating in the housing lottery will also be able to select “male,” “female,” or “no preference” when requesting their roommate. As a part of the “gender-neutral housing pilot study,” a set of apartments will be reserved for gender-neutral housing. Source: The Tartan Student Newspaper, Mar. 5, 2007

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Clark University	2006-2007	Offers gender-neutral rooming for all upper-class students. All upper-class coed residential halls have single gender-neutral restrooms and are open for gender-neutral rooming. There are no additional forms, approval, or process. Different-sex roommate pairs sign up for the housing lottery just like same-sex pairs. Source: Clark Residential Life & Housing Office
Colorado College	2004	Offers a gender-neutral special interest hall for all students. Students are not asked to identify their gender. Students may pair up with a roommate regardless of gender or sex. If they do not have a roommate, Housing will select one for them, without consideration of gender. Special application is required; students must agree to uphold additional terms. (See Appendix D(3) for an article about Colorado College's Gender Neutral Housing) Source: Colorado College Queer-Straight Alliance
Connecticut College	2009	"Members of the rising sophomore, junior and senior classes have the opportunity to choose their own room assignments through the spring housing lottery process. Through this process, students find a roommate and together the students select a specific residence hall, then room assignment. Students who wish to take advantage of the gender-neutral housing policy have the option of choosing a roommate of any biological sex or gender identity." Gender-Neutral Housing FAQ, Connecticut College Website
Dartmouth College	2007	Starting Fall of 2007, all upper-class students will be able select a roommate regardless of gender and live on a specific programming floor, as well as rooms "scattered around campus." The Office of Residential Life is introducing this option as part of a pilot program and predicts that interest in gender-neutral housing will likely grow in the upcoming years. Source: The Dartmouth College Newspaper, Feb. 21, 2007
Emerson College	2010	Pilot program will allow "all students except entering freshmen and first-year transfers to share rooms or suites with other students regardless of gender or sex." Source: The Berkeley Beacon, Nov. 19, 2009

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Goucher College	2010	Gender neutral rooming allowed in Welsh Hall suites. Source: Goucher Room Draw Procedures
Grinnell College	2006-2007	Is in the process of implementing gender-neutral housing. In March 2006, Trustees “heard a presentation about gender-neutral housing, and allowed it to move toward implementation by the administration.” Source: Scarlet & Black, Grinnell College, March 3, 2006 Expanded in 2010 to a variety of residence halls. Source: Scarlet & Black, March 5, 2010
Guilford College	2006	Offers upper-class students the option for a genderblind themed alternative house beginning Fall of 2006. The residence life 2006/2007 stance on genderblind housing/rooming is as quoted: "Any students who wish to live in Gender Blind housing can submit a proposal to live in one of the college's alternative houses. This proposal will be given consideration along with all other proposals for themed alternative housing. Gender Blind housing will not occur in Guilford's traditional residence halls." Source: Guilford College Campus Life Proposed Housing Changes 2006 - 2007
Hampshire College	1970	Does not have a specific policy that allows or prohibits different gender roommates. All students (including first years) can request to live in doubles with a roommate of any gender. About 90% of students live in singles. There is no additional paperwork or screening process. Source: Renee Freedman, Associate Dean for Student Life via e-mail, Feb. 23, 2006

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Harvard University *Exceptions noted	2008	Starting in Spring of 2008, a gender-neutral housing option will be offered only to students that identify on housing forms as transgender. Gender-neutral housing will be made available through a limited number of suites on campus. New forms will have a checkbox for transgender for sex along with male and female. The Associate Dean of Residential Life is quoted as “trying to regularize the process,” so that eventually all students, regardless of gender identity, can have this housing option made available to them. The Bisexual, Gay, Lesbian, Transgender Alliance at Harvard and The Harvard Crimson have since called for gender-neutral housing to be made available to all students, not only for students who identify themselves as transgender on housing forms. In the past, gender-neutral housing was offered by individual house masters on a case-by-case basis and was highly discretionary and arbitrary. Source: The Harvard Crimson, Feb. 8, 2006, March 17, 2006, Feb. 16 & 23, 2007
Haverford College	2000	Upper-class students (groups of three) are able to apply for gender-neutral housing in two-bedroom apartments through the general lottery. Source: The Post-Gazette, Feb. 26, 2002
Humboldt State University	2006-07	“Gender Neutral housing allows same gender roommates, opposite gender roommates or other gender-identity roommate pairings. The community is designed as an intentional living community affirming the cultural experiences of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex and questioning residents as well as their allies. Residents who have not already chosen a roommate can elect to be assigned a roommate who is also interested in gender neutral housing options. People will only be assigned to live in this area by choice. Placements will be gender blind.” This housing is considered special interest housing and students that choose this option will be placed in one house. (See Appendix E(4) for a copy of the policy) Source: HSU Housing & Dining Policies & Procedures
Ithaca College	Fall 2009	A Fall 2009 pilot speciality housing program will allow upper-class students the option to select a roommate of a different gender in one residence hall. Source: Ithaca College Office of Residential Life

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Lake Forest University	2009	“Students will need to identify an interest in gender-neutral housing prior to the room selection process. Both Lois and Moore residence halls will not be offered as a gender-neutral possibility, but all other halls will allow opposite-gender roommates.” Source: The Stentor, Oct. 30, 2008.
Lawrence University	2006	Gender-neutral housing, which allows students of different genders to share a room, is available. All areas selected have rooms with private bathrooms. Gender-neutral housing will be an option only in the following locations: 3rd/4th floors of Hiatt, 300 S. Meade St and 203 N. Union St. Source: Lawrence University Residence Life
Lehigh University	2010	Gender-neutral housing will be available to upper-class students starting fall 2010. “The new gender-neutral housing policy states two or more students may share a room, suite or apartment without regards to gender.” Source: The Brown and White, Feb. 9, 2010
Lewis & Clark College	2005	Offered through an application process (involves an interview) for all upper-class students. Gender neutral rooms are available in several halls. Students can choose their own roommates, regardless of gender, or may have ResLife select a roommate who has chosen the same housing option. Policy prevents couples (of any sexual orientation) from cohabiting; a violation will result in disciplinary action. Source: Lewis & Clark Pioneer Log (Student Newspaper) & ResLife Housing
Macalester College	2010	“All-gender housing” pilot program allows members who apply and are accepted to take part in the all-gender option share facilities and participate in activities and programming.” Source: Mac Weekly, March 13, 2009
Northeastern University	2009	“In addition to other themed housing options, gender neutral housing is now available to upper-class students during the room selection process. First year students must contact Housing directly to be considered for Gender Neutral Housing. Cases will be evaluated on an individual basis.” Source: Gender Neutral Housing, Northeastern University Housing and Residence Life Website

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Northwestern University	2010	Pilot program will be open to upperclassmen in 2010-11 in 1835 Hinman and Kemper Halls. Source: Daily Northwestern, April 14, 2010
Oberlin College	2004	Originally proposed in 1996, an all-gender floor was introduced in one hall in 2004. Today, four floors total offer all-gender housing. In 2006, Administrators agreed to phase in the housing option in all residence halls (excluding single-gender halls) by the 2016-2017 academic year. Source: The Oberlin Review (May 12, 2006)
Pitzer College	Fall 2008	All students have the option, though are not required, to fill out their gender on their housing form. Students, including first years, will be allowed to specify the gender of their roommate. This option is available campus-wide. Sources: The Student Life, February 29, 2008 & Pitzer College Residential Life
Princeton University	2010	Pilot program will allow for gender neutral suites in Spelman Hall; however, “all students in this room type would have their own individual, private sleeping spaces and would share a common living area and bathroom.” Source: Undergraduate Student Living Council
Occidental College	2009	Gender-neutral rooming created as a programmed living environment available via application. Source: Gender Neutral Housing FAQ/Application, Occidental College Website
Oregon State University	2008	Upper-class/transfer students can select a roommate regardless of gender identification. Students will be housed in one hall in an apartment-style setting. Students elect the option when filling out their “personal profile” in the housing application. Source: OSU Housing & Dining Services
University of California-Berkeley	2008	“Mixed gender roommate” option available at the Unity Theme House. Open to all students, regardless of gender identity or expression. Student can identify with any gender, without official documentation. Affiliated with the Gender and Women’s Studies major and LGBT studies minor. Source: UC Berkeley Residential Theme Programs

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
University of California-Riverside	2005	Offers a gender-neutral housing option to all students in several locations on campus including in a theme house. Roommates may either pair up (regardless of gender) or be assigned housing regardless of gender. Priority is given to students who self-identify as requiring accommodations based on their gender identity or expression. Source: UCR LGBT Resource Center
University of California—Santa Cruz	2009	“Gender Neutral Housing allows for same-gender or other-gender identities to live together regardless of biological sex. Students wishing to live in gender neutral housing who do not self-select a roommate on their housing application will be assigned a roommate based on answers provided on the Lifestyle Questionnaire and follow up interviews.” Source: Housing and Theme Options, Colleges and University Housing Services Website
University of Connecticut	2007	Allows gender-neutral pairings in several suites. Source: The Daily Campus, August 2, 2008
University of Chicago	2009	Open Housing, also sometimes called gender-neutral housing, is a policy which allows second-, third- and fourth-year College students the choice of living with other second-, third- or fourth-year students, regardless of gender. The Office of Undergraduate Student Housing will not assign anyone to an opposite-sex roommate unless requested. The policy goes into effect as a pilot program in January 2009, with full implementation expected in the Fall of 2009.” Source: Frequently Asked Questions about Open Housing, Office of Undergraduate Student Housing, The University of Chicago Website
University of Michigan	N/A	Offered to students on a case-by-case basis. Interested students must contact a “University Liaison” to discuss gender-neutral housing options. They include either singles or doubles with a private or adjoining “unisex bathroom.” The criteria is generally judged by availability of space. Source: UMich Undergraduate Housing

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
University of Oregon	2009	“Gender Equity Hall” launched as a pilot program: “Whether you are simply interested in how gender roles shape society or just enjoy living among other genders, you want to live in a community committed to gender equity. Residents of this hall (and only this hall) can choose to room with a student of any gender. This includes same gender roommates or other gender-identity roommate pairings. Put simply, in this community anyone can choose to share a room with anyone else. This hall is typically restricted to upperclass and returning students except under special circumstances.” Source: Special-Interest Halls, University of Oregon Website
University of Pennsylvania	2005	Upper-class students (who are over 18 years old) can choose a roommate of any gender. Roommates must mutually agree to live together. “Those interested are required to appear in person at the Housing Conference Services office and sign an agreement giving consent to live in a gender-neutral setting.” Students who agree to live in a “gender-neutral setting” must also agree to allow Housing to assign a new roommate, regardless of gender, if there is a vacancy. Sources: UPenn Housing Handbook (2005-2006), The Daily Pennsylvania, Jan. 27, 2005
University of Southern Maine	2004	Offers upper-class students the option of living in a gender-neutral floor or in gender-neutral rooms dispersed throughout several residence halls. Living options include doubles and suites. Students make roommate requests. No additional screening process or paperwork is required. Source: University Business Magazine, June 2004
University of Vermont	2010	“Beginning in Fall 2010, Residential Life will offer Gender Neutral Housing (GNH) to returning students who are interested in rooming with a student of a different gender. This housing option will be available in Wing/Davis/Wilks and Independent Living on Trinity Campus (Sichel, Ready, McCann, Richardson, and Hunt).” Source: ResLife, University of Vermont
Ramapo College	2009	Pilot program launched in 2009. Students must apply and can either choose to be assigned to a roommate also participating in the pilot, or choose their own roommate. Source: Gender Neutral Housing Pilot Program – Frequently Asked Questions, Ramapo College Website

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Sarah Lawrence College	2004	Upper-class students can choose to room with anyone of a different gender in any upper-class double or triple. "All-gender" roommate assignments are never given. About 50% of upper-class students live in singles and the other half live in doubles and triples. There is no additional screening process. Source: Sarah Cardwell, Assistant Dean for Residential Life via e-mail, March 7-8, 2006
Skidmore College	2008	Gender-neutral rooming is available for all students (including first-year students) in one residence hall on one floor. Offered on a first come, first serve basis for upper-class students while first-year students may select the option by filling out the appropriate portion of the housing questionnaire. Source: Skidmore College Residential Resources
Southern Oregon University	2009	Pilot program will begin in "gender inclusive" floor of SOU's Diamond Hall. Up to 18 rooming spots are available, and will be open to all students. Source: KOB! 5, May, 5, 2009
Stanford University	2008	Stanford will offer "gender neutral" housing options to sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students starting autumn quarter. The one-year pilot program will be offered during the 2008-09 academic year in five residences: Narnia and Terra (Row houses), Castaño (an upper-class residence hall), Mirrielees (an undergraduate apartment complex) and Rains (a graduate student apartment building). Source: Stanford Report, April 2008
SUNY Geneseo	2009	Pilot program in Genesee Hall provides gender-neutral suite-style rooms. Source: The Lamron, April 29, 2010
Swarthmore College	2001	Upper-class students may select to live together in a double, regardless of gender, in most halls. There is no additional paperwork or screening process. However, most upper-class students choose to live in singles, suites or apartments. Source: Liz Derickson, Housing Coordinator via e-mail, Feb. 22, 2006
Syracuse University	2010	776 rooms available in a variety of residence halls. Source: Daily Orange, April 14, 2010

College/University	Year Implemented	Description of Policy
Washington University in St. Louis	2008	Through the general housing selection process, upper-class students can choose to participate in a pilot program where housing assignments are not based on gender. This is offered in one apartment-style residence. Source: WU Housing Selection Expanded in 2010 to a variety of residence halls. Source: Student Life, February 1, 2010
Wesleyan University	About 15 years ago; policy revised in 2003 to include first-years then later rescinded*	Wesleyan has allowed upper-class students to room together in a double or triple for about 10-15 years. Most upper-class students live in single rooms. “In 2003, Wesleyan University made national news by establishing a gender-neutral hallway in order to provide support to transgender students. But after a year, school administrators disbanded the hallway, reportedly because they were concerned about segregating the students and interest waning over time. Wesleyan now matches returning students who choose gender-neutral placements and houses them in various halls.” There is no additional paperwork or screening process. *Wesleyan is currently reviewing whether or not to reinstate gender-neutral housing for first-year students. Source: Wesleyan Trans/gender Group & TLPI
Whitman College	2009	“Policy allows co-ed rooms for any student living on campus who is not a first-year, as long as their parents sign a letter notifying them of their child’s living situation.” Source: Whitman Pioneer, Nov. 17, 2009.
Willamette University	Fall 2008	The pilot program will be offered for upper-class students as part of a separate application. Willamette University reserves the right to prohibit couples of any sexual orientation to room together. Gender-neutral rooms will be available in selected residence halls. Source: Statesman Journal, March 23, 2008
Yale University *Exceptions noted	2010	Members of senior class may share suites together without restriction; however, only students of the same gender may share rooms together. Source: The Harvard Crimson, February 24, 2010